

{ I Do, Let's Eat }

Beatrice and Yves are both in their mid-twenties. They first met in high school and have been together ever since. Both are of Haitian descent—Beatrice was born in Haiti, Yves in Montreal, and both grew up in Quebec.

Along with their Haitian roots, Beatrice and Yves also wish to express their Canadian citizenship. That's why they chose Bean Town Ranch, just outside Ottawa, to hold their wedding and reception. "To me, Bean Town is typically Canadian, with its log houses and woods surrounding the property. And we chose June 30 so our party would continue into Canada Day on July 1st. That way our wedding shows both our sides—Haitian and Canadian," says Beatrice.
